Educators Rising Curriculum Supplemental Resources

CLINICAL EXPERIENCES

Rising educators should engage regularly in field experiences through their time in the EdRising Curriculum program – including observing classrooms, working with students, and leading classroom instruction. Clinical experiences should run in tandem with the EdRising Curriculum coursework. The frequency and intensity of the clinical experiences are flexible, but EdRising recommends a scaffolded approach where rising educators progress through four phases of clinical experiences:

To help you start incorporating clinical experiences into your program, we provide resources for every step of the Coordination way including:

Planning for Clinical Experiences

Resources to help you organize a well-scaffolded progression of clinical opportunities across a variety of school settings

Preparing Your Rising Educators

Resources to help you prepare your rising educators in advance of their clinical immersion

Teaming with Cooperating Teachers/Partner School

Resources to help you engage schools and teachers to serve as hosts for your students
